Featured Farm of the Month: Farm Institute

The Farm Institute uses its working farm to teach about food and farming. The kids and farmers work together to raise approximately 350 laying hens on pasture for eggs. Chickens in prime laying age lay an egg every 1.5 days. So, the Farm Institute’s chickens lay a total of about 80,000 eggs a year!

Healthy Serving Ideas

- Eggs boiled for 6 minutes produce a firm yet custard-like yolk that is delicious on salad.
- Chop greens like kale or chard, cook until wilted and add whisked eggs in to make a scramble or omelet.
- Pack hard-boiled eggs in the lunch box for a protein filled snack.
- Frittatas are a quick dinner that can be pulled together in about 45 minutes. Fill a pie pan with assorted veggies, some favorites include: potatoes, spinach, mushrooms and onions. Whisk together a dozen eggs, pour over the veggies, top off with cheese and bake for about 40 minutes at 350 degrees.

Shopper’s Tips

- Buy fresh, pastured raised eggs from your local farm stand or at Cronig’s Market and Tisbury Farm Market.
- If eggs are unwashed, they retain a special protective coating on the shell, and you can store on the counter for up to two weeks. Be sure to wash eggs before you use them. Washed eggs must be kept in the fridge.
- Locally-grown farm eggs can cost about $6/dozen. At 50 cents per egg, they are one of the most affordable sources of island-grown protein.
